

Complex Dispute Resolution

Through our years of negotiating, we are able to find solutions to disputes that are acceptable to both sides, without resorting to litigation, and to find solutions to resolve lawsuits that often had been pending for years or even decades. We are available to work on your behalf to assist in the resolution of a wide range of complex disputes in a broad variety of areas – give us a call to talk about whether we can assist with your most difficult issues. In addition, while we traditionally have worked on behalf of particular clients, to represent their interests and seek to resolve their complex disputes, we are also available to provide services as neutral mediators of ongoing disputes, or as members of arbitration panels. We have individuals with extensive legal, environmental, and insurance experience to assist on the wide range of problems you might face.